Communicating COVID:
ECHO for Community Health Workers

The COVID-19 pandemic created unprecedented challenges for the public health workforce and the communities it serves. Workforce shortages, misinformation, and eroding trust between the public and the health workforce has highlighted the critical need for a community-partnership, resource-sharing, and mutual support.

To address this, Health Confianza is hosting a free series, Communicating COVID: ECHO for Community Health Workers. Health Confianza is a partnered initiative between UT Health San Antonio, UT San Antonio, and the San Antonio Metropolitan Health District to share information about COVID-19 with Community Health Workers. ECHO Sessions will be hosted by a team of experts in community health, health literacy, and infectious disease. Each session will include didactics followed by participant presentations of real-life situations and group discussion to share resources and inform care.

Friday sessions at 12:00 -1:00 pm (Central):

| August 12 | August 26 | September 9 | September 23 | October 7 |
| October 21 | November 4 | November 18 | December 2 | January 13 |

Register: bit.ly/CHW-C19-ECHO

This is a Continuing Education Event

health confianza

UT Health San Antonio

Project ECHO

What is ECHO?

Extension for Community Healthcare Outcomes, ECHO®, uses videoconferencing to connect health professionals to a multi-disciplinary team of experts to share knowledge and build capacity for delivering best-practice care.

Why join?

- Free continuing education credits
- Ongoing, case-based learning
- Engagement with a dynamic community of learning
- Professional growth and networking
- Capacity building for community health

Learn more at: https://bit.ly/CHW-COVID-ECHO