Introduction

TITLE IX

Key Concepts & Framework

Title IX

Sex Discrimination
Sexual Harassment
Retaliation

Key Pillars: Title IX Process

Impartiality

Respect

Fairness

Equity

For all of the participants in the process:

Complainants

Respondents

Witnesses

Third-party Reporters

Serving Impartially in your Role

- Must avoid prejudgment of the facts at issue
- Must avoid conflicts of interest
- Must avoid bias

- Must maintain complete neutrality & impartiality at all times in investigating alleged conduct violations of institutional policies.
 - Understanding bias & whether it exists: Need to take an “objective, common sense approach to evaluating whether a person serving in a role is biased.” (Title IX Preamble (2020))...

- Must not treat a party differently:
 - On the basis of the person's sex;
 - On stereotypes about how men or women behave with respect to sexual violence; and/or
 - On the basis of the person's protected characteristics.

What is “Serving Impartially” in your Role?

Impartial

State of mind or attitude where there is no biased influence, perceived or real

Independent

Free from outside influence

Objective

Absence from any personal or professional interest that affects a person's ability to be fair & impartial to all parties involved

The background of the slide is a light blue textured surface covered with a repeating pattern of question marks. Each question mark is enclosed within a white speech bubble shape, and these are arranged in a grid-like fashion across the entire page. The text 'What is Bias?' is centered in the middle of the slide, enclosed in a white rectangular box with an orange border.

What is Bias?

What is Bias?

Assumptions

Thoughts,
Generalizations

Limited or inaccurate
perception of others

Stereotypes

Overly simplified
Ideas

Limited or inaccurate
perception of others

Prejudices

Beliefs, Feelings,
Attitudes of liking or disliking someone or something

Limited or inaccurate
perception of others

Examples of Sex/Gender-based Biases

1. “Real men” cannot be victims of sexual assault.
2. If a woman doesn’t physically resist rape, then it cannot constitute sexual assault.
3. If a man is intoxicated, it might be unintentional sexual contact (e.g. getting carried away), but it’s not sexual assault.
4. If a woman engages in alcohol consumption willingly, then she is at least somewhat responsible for later allowing sexual contact or engaging in any other sexual activity.
5. If a woman initiates kissing or other forms of sexual contact, then she is consenting to all of the sexual activity.
6. If a woman has had multiple past sexual partners, then the incident in question likely isn’t a “real sexual assault”. She’s just promiscuous, regretful and/or lying.
7. If a man is accused of sexual assault, he likely did it because men always desire sex.

Beware of “Trusting your Gut”

- Subjective (personal point of view)
- Emotional response
- Based on limited information
- Inherent “blind spots”
- Influenced by our filters or past experiences (limited, anecdotal lens)
- Can be influenced by our biases

Instead: “Check your Gut”

for assumptions, stereotypes, and prejudices before acting on them.

or Decision-making

Can be influenced by Assumptions,
Stereotypes,
and/or Prejudices
of others

Prejudgment Examples

1. The Complainant (CP) was consuming alcohol at the time of the alleged incident, so the decision-maker relies solely on this information to determine the CP's statements regarding the incident are not accurate or reliable.
2. The Respondent (RP) is alleged to have committed sexual assault. The RP identifies as a man, so the decision-maker, without any other relevant evidence to inform whether there was consent, concludes that the RP committed sexual assault.
3. The Complainant (CP) and Respondent (RP) were in a consensual sexual relationship at the time of the alleged incident, so the decision-maker relies solely on this information to determine that the CP consented to sexual activity regarding the specific conduct at issue.

Types of Bias

Types of Bias

17

Gender Bias

Having a preference, favoring for or against one gender over another.

Beauty Bias (Appearance Bias)

Associating a person's appearance with their personality; making judgments based on a person's physical appearance.

Affinity Bias

Favoring others who share one's own qualities or qualities of someone you like.

In-group Bias

Responding more positively toward one's own "in-groups" than from "out-groups"

Confirmation Bias

Searching for evidence that backs up one's preconceived opinions or theories; can lead to selective observation or overlooking information that is also relevant.

18

Anchoring Bias

Relying on the first piece of information received about a matter, regardless of its relevance or whether substantive in nature.

Contrast Effect

Assessing two or more similar things and comparing them with one another, rather than looking at each component based on its own merit(s).

Halo Effect

Relying on a perceived "positive" impression about a person and overlooking other information or aspects.

Horns Effect

Relying on a perceived "negative" impression about a person and overlooking other information or aspects.

19

Attention Bias

Focusing on certain information while ignoring other information that is relevant or substantive in nature.

Affect Bias

One's emotional state influencing one's decision-making; one's positive or negative feelings may affect one's perception of information or meaning(s).

Motivation Bias

Assuming someone's motivation(s) based on their current behavior; a form of emotionally biased reasoning that isn't considering all of the evidence.

Overconfidence Effect

Relying on one's subjective confidence in their own judgments rather than considering the objective accuracy of those judgments.

20

Recency Bias

Overemphasizing the most recent information received about a matter, regardless of its relevance or whether substantive in nature.

Framing Effect

Relying on the way information is presented when making judgments or decisions. Overvaluing how something is presented (e.g. its framing), which can then cause undervaluing of what is being presented (which can still be relevant or substantive)

Ambiguity

Limited or lack of information to base one's decisions or judgments.

Prejudgment Examples Revisited

1. The Complainant (CP) was consuming alcohol at the time of the alleged incident, so the decision-maker relies solely on this information to determine the CP's statements regarding the incident are not accurate or reliable.
2. The Respondent (RP) is alleged to have committed sexual assault. The RP identifies as a man, so the decision-maker, without any other relevant evidence to inform whether there was consent, concludes that the RP committed sexual assault.
3. The Complainant (CP) and Respondent (RP) were in a consensual sexual relationship at the time of the alleged incident, so the decision-maker relies solely on this information to determine that the CP consented to sexual activity regarding the specific conduct at issue.

The background of the slide is a repeating pattern of question marks inside speech bubbles. The bubbles are in two shades of tan, and the question marks are a darker brown. The pattern is dense and covers the entire slide area.

Conflict of Interest

What is “Serving Impartially” in your Role?

23

Impartial

State of mind or attitude where there is no biased influence, perceived or real

Independent

Free from outside influence

Objective

Absence from any personal or professional interest that affects a person's ability to be fair & impartial to all parties involved

What can cause a Conflict of Interest?

Lack of Independence in your role

Lack of Objectivity in your analyses

Lack of Impartiality in your decision-making

The background of the slide is a light gray with a fine grid pattern. It is decorated with numerous small, colorful circles and dots in shades of blue, green, pink, and purple. Some of these circles have internal patterns like concentric rings or diagonal stripes. A large, white rectangular box with an orange border is centered on the slide, containing the title text.

Strategies for Mitigating Bias & Conflicts of Interest

Mindset Throughout the Process

- Fairness and appearance of fair.
- Parties need to be heard and feel heard.

Remember: This is likely a major life event for both the Complainant & Respondent.

Check Your “Gut”

Mitigating Bias

- Identify the objective criteria for the investigation or adjudication.
- Focus on the relevant facts and evidence gathered.
- Remind yourself that individuals are complex and diverse.
- Investigate the allegations fully, gathering ALL of the relevant facts and evidence available/accessible from the parties involved.

- Be open to & obtain outside input & feedback on your analyses, explanations, or justifications for conclusions.
- Remove distractions and reduce sources of stress when considering analyses or decision-making.
- Recognize ALL possible outcomes.

DO NOT pass judgment on the allegations presented by any of the parties or witnesses.

DO NOT pass judgment on the individual parties or witnesses.

DO NOT jump to any premature conclusions and avoid early hypotheses.

Testing & Detecting Bias

Test to address any potential implicit bias.

- What is the essence of potential policy violation?
- Create hypothetical that includes those elements. Then flip or change the genders.
- You must have fair & consistent considerations, regardless of gender.

When developing your analysis, making your decision(s), or coming to your conclusions:

- List out the evidence favorable to both sides to ensure evidentiary support (as opposed to biased influences).

Bias Checklist Questions

1. Is your first impression of someone subjectively influencing your analysis or judgment? Are there other considerations of that person that counter the first impression?
2. Would your view of the person or their statements change if they were different or similar to you?
3. Are you rushing to judgment? Have you considered ALL the key factors & elements?
4. Are there missing perspectives or exceptions that may be relevant to consider? (Play devil's advocate.)

5. Could you be wrong about your analysis?
6. Are you oversimplifying your conclusion?
7. Are you distracted or hyper-sensitive to an emotional element?
8. What are your reasons for your analysis or decision? Is your analysis sound? (Write out your rationale, then think critically about it.)
9. Do you have sufficient time to consider your analysis or decision(s)?

Mitigating Conflict of Interest (COI)

- Avoid any actual or perceived COI.
- Even the appearance of a “conflict” can undermine the perceived fairness of the process or proceedings.
- Don’t take “conflict” allegations or concerns personally.
- Be open and considerate, even if you may disagree with the “conflict” concerns.
- Avoid an Overconfidence Effect from impairing your judgment on any “conflict” concerns with your role.
- Recuse yourself when appropriate or necessary.

Conflict of Interest Checklist: Questions for Decision-Makers

1. Do you have a direct or personal relationship with any of the parties or witnesses that could compromise your objectivity?
2. Have you played a decision-making role in the matter previously or will you play a decision-making role later in the process?
3. Are you aware of any other facts or circumstances that might be viewed as undermining your ability to render an analysis or decision that is fair, impartial and unbiased?

Objective Criteria

Look at the Provision(s) at Issue:

Engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to fear for his or her safety or the safety of others or suffer substantial emotional distress.

For the purposes of this definition:

- Course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about a person, or interferes with a person's property.
- Reasonable person means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the victim.
- Substantial emotional distress means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

Look at the Provision(s) at Issue:

Engaging in a (1) course of conduct (2) directed at a specific person that would (3) cause a reasonable person to fear for his or her safety or the safety of others or suffer substantial emotional distress.

For the purposes of this definition:

- Course of conduct means two or more acts, including, but not limited to, acts in which the stalker directly, indirectly, or through third parties, by any action, method, device, or means, follows, monitors, observes, surveils, threatens, or communicates to or about a person, or interferes with a person's property.
- Reasonable person means a reasonable person under similar circumstances and with similar identities to the victim.
- Substantial emotional distress means significant mental suffering or anguish that may, but does not necessarily, require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

Burden of Proof on the Institution

Preponderance of the Evidence Standard

Whether the greater weight of the credible evidence establishes that the Respondent engaged in the alleged policy violation.

Note: The Respondent is presumed not responsible.

Relevant Evidence

Evidence is relevant if:

- The evidence has any tendency to make a fact more or less probable than it would be without the evidence; and
- The fact is of consequence in determining the action.

Relevant Evidence

Another way to frame it:

- Exculpatory evidence: Evidence tending to excuse, justify, or absolve the person of the alleged conduct.
- Inculpatory evidence: Evidence that places responsibility on the person of the alleged conduct.

“Stalking” Elements Breakdown (Example)

Complainant’s Statements

Course of Conduct	Directed at a Specific Person	Cause a Reasonable Person to (a) Fear for his/her/their safety or the safety of others; or (b) Suffer substantial emotional distress
1. Phone call 2. In-person confrontation	Complainant (CP)	1. Respondent (RP) implied watching and following the CP from personal residence to their transportation and other places only the CP would reasonably be accessing or visiting (work location, parent’s house, CP’s friends). 2. RP “begging, crying, pleading” with CP to return to the relationship, & “can’t live without CP.” 3. RP doesn’t want to be “alone,” is worried about self-safety, and is having self-harming thoughts.

“Stalking” Elements Breakdown (Example)

Respondent’s Disputes & Responses

Cause a Reasonable Person to

(a) Fear for his/her/their safety or the safety of others; or

(b) Suffer substantial emotional distress

1. RP implied watching and following the CP from personal residence to their transportation and other places only the CP would reasonably be accessing or visiting (work location, parent’s house, CP’s friends).
2. RP “begging, crying, pleading” with CP to return to the relationship, & “can’t live without CP.”
3. RP doesn’t want to be “alone,” is worried about self-safety, and is having self-harming thoughts.

Respondent’s Disputes & Responses

1. RP denied implying “watching” or “following” CP. RP asked CP where they’ve been going, but it was a casual question and not specific in anyway to watching or following the CP.
2. RP admitted to saying, “I can’t live without CP,” but it was a “figure of speech.” RP admitted to wanting to “get back together” with CP but RP claims that CP is “exaggerating” RP’s emotional state and how RP “presented” in that moment.
3. RP denied saying anything about “self-harming” thoughts or being worried about their own “safety.” RP said they have a hard time “living alone,” as in not having other roommates or others around. RP’s always had roommates and siblings growing up.

In Making Your Decision, or Developing Your Analysis:

- Assess witness credibility:
 - Ex: Demeanor, personal knowledge, bias
- Consider the strength of the relevant evidence:
 - Credibility of the relevant evidence
 - Weight of each exhibit
 - Persuasiveness of the evidence

Weighing Evidence

Does some evidence weigh more than other evidence?

(*Is it more persuasive?)

- Plausible—does it make sense?
- Detailed v. vague recollection (*but beware of trauma)
- Direct or circumstantial
- Personal observation/knowledge v. hearsay (what somebody told witness)
- Corroboration? Are there objective facts that can corroborate any testimony? (Texts; Phone log; video evidence; emails, etc.)

Example:

Complainant's testimony was that consent was lacking because Complainant said, "I don't want sex." But Respondent testifies that Complainant said, "Let's have sex."

Burden of Proof:
The Greater Weight

Disputed Facts and Credibility

- Are there inconsistencies? Is it corroborated in any way?
- Is an explanation plausible?
- What did the witness do? What did they not do?
- Are there motives for the witness to be less than truthful?
- Are there motives for the witness to frame the event in a way more favorable to themselves? Are they lying to themselves?
- Is there an opportunity for a good faith mistake?
- What about demeanor? (How much to weigh/cultural stereotypes?)

Potential Pitfalls

- You must let the evidence lead you to the conclusion, rather than making the evidence “fit” your pre-formed conclusion.
- Focus on the relevant evidence.
 - Hint: It's not all relevant.

A Good Decision Analysis & Decision:

- Demonstrates the care and attention given to the factual findings and weighing of the evidence.
- Shows that the institution reached a reasoned, good faith conclusion.
 - It's not enough to reach a conclusion. You must be able to “show your work.”
- Serves as a framework for all future proceedings.

Revision Stage: Focus on Clarity

- Focus on relevant facts in your factual findings. If it is part of the reasoning, say it. Don't omit it.

Revision Stage: Focus on Clarity

- Look at your draft with a critical eye.
- Pretend the person who will be most unhappy with your decision is in the room with you reading the draft with you. With each sentence or paragraph, consider:
“What would that person say?”
- Then revise.

Reminder on Fairness & Appearance of Fair

Deal with facts contrary to your decision:

- If you don't, it looks like you didn't consider or hear the argument, that you weren't paying attention, or that the process is unfair.

Hypotheticals

Hypothetical 1

The Respondent (RP) says that they didn't sexually harass the Complainant (CP) because the RP didn't find the CP "attractive." The decision-maker doesn't find the CP "attractive" in a "typical" way either, so the decision-maker relies solely on this perception to determine the sexual harassment allegations are unsubstantiated.

Hypothetical 2

The investigator has an early hunch that the Respondent (RP) is responsible for stalking the Complainant (CP) based on CP's initial statements and text message evidence submitted, even though RP later submitted possibly compelling responses and explanations to the allegations. The investigator says that CP's evidence seems very convincing and authentic upon first view.

Hypothetical 3

A witness describes the Complainant (CP) as “spiteful” because the Respondent (RP) ended the relationship with the CP a week prior to the CP filing a report of dating violence. Without any evidence or basis, the witness says the CP was “jealous” of RP’s new date. The RP is dating someone new; this fact is not disputed. The decision-maker is concerned with this impression of the CP and uses only this information to justify the allegations are unsubstantiated.

Hypothetical 4

A decision-maker asks the Complainant (CP) “Why did you wear that specific outfit on the night of the alleged sexual assault with the Respondent (RP)? Why create a target for yourself?”

Hypothetical 5

An Advisor that's been provided by the institution has been assigned to a Complainant (CP). The Advisor meets with the CP and learns more about the general timeline of the investigation and circumstances. Afterwards, the CP sends the Advisor a copy of the Investigation Report, and the Advisor recognizes the Respondent (RP) to be someone they've assisted with in the residence hall the previous year regarding a roommate issue.

Hypothetical 6

The Complainant (CP) provided graphic testimony about their domestic violence experiences, including injuries & emotional trauma. The decision-maker has an emotional reaction listening to the statements; eyes visibly watering. The decision-maker is aware that they are in a “heightened emotional state.”
